Abstract of the Disclosure

Methods and systems for determining which individual claims and/or suits submitted for a defense under a policy of liability insurance are best suited to be referred to a higher level of analysis, such as outside legal counsel for a coverage opinion and analysis. Particularly, those which allow, for example, a claims handler to quickly and efficiently make this determination, i.e., to make an automatic coverage referral.